

The Faerie represent the elemental forces of nature that are present in any landscape. We commune with the Faerie folk of our own area to help connect us to the particular place where we are.

We also build Henges - from an Angle-Saxon word meaning "to hang", as in "to hang the universe upon this spot". Henges anchor us to the place we are in, and also relate our physical place to the day, the seasons and the spiraling movements of the stars and planets.

Below are 3 Feraferian henges.
